The Italian companies have contributed to the development of the foundries in every part of the world, through the strong collaboration with the more important world-wide foundries.
The productive standards have increased and now they are, in this field, the more important partners of the best international foundries.

Qualities and flexibilities characterize the Italian offer of products for foundries as the point of reference in the total market.
The Italian companies don’t propose itself just like suppliers, but also like cooperative partners.

The main world-wide ferrous and non-ferrous cast producers use manufacturer plants and Italian technologies.

The technology 'Made in Italy' for the foundry industry guarantees the top quality castings.

Amafond and its Members are beginning to consider the Indonesia as an important player inside the international production strategies and it could be one of the most promising market for our sector.
In Europe, Italy has maintained interesting export shares in markets such as Germany, Spain, France and Turkey but now the sector is beginning to move to emerging markets like Indonesia which has recently been the ASEAN main market overgrowing Thailandia.

Currently the italian foundry sector has to face the strong competition from other Asian countries like Japan, China and South Korea and it is appropriate to explore the possibilities of cooperation in Indonesia showing and projecting there the positive influence of the “Made in Italy Technology”.
