In the advent of the new century, with the development of economic globalization, the regional cooperation has been increasingly strengthened. In recent years, Asian foundry industry expanded at an unprecedented speed. Its annual output of castings has surpassed 50% of the total yield of the global castings. It is high time for Asia foundrymen to strengthen communication and cooperation, it calls for them to improve the overall competitiveness of Asia foundry industry. Therefore, the launch of Asia Foundry Forum is becoming the general desire and common pursuit of every Asian country and region. In September, 2009, the pre-meeting of Asian foundry forum has been successfully held in Shanghai, China. Asian Foundry Forum 2010 will be grandly opened by China Foundry Association on 10th, May in Beijing, China.

The upcoming forum will not only be a significant event for unifying Asian foundry organizations and members, but also it will be a unique opportunity for experience sharing of management skill, foundry technique, market expansion, developing trend, education and training. Undoubtedly it will be helpful as for promoting the sustainable, healthy and harmonious development of Asian foundry industry. The meeting guidelines including “communication, cooperation, development, and strengthening of Asian foundry industry”. In addition, it will present a thorough discussion on how to seize the opportunity to develop Asian Foundry Industry and achieve its sustainable development.

The theme of Asian Foundry Forum 2010 is “Asia Foundry: Strengthening Cooperation and Seeking Common development”. Focusing upon several questions, for example, how to seize the developing opportunity in the recovering period of global economy, how to enhance the international competitiveness and achieve the sustainable development, the forum will explore these urgent issues in-depth.
